Now! The Amazing Facts about

BALDNESS

...AND WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT

The following facts are brought to the attention of the public because of a widespread belief that nothing can be done about hair loss. This belief has no basis in medical fact. Worse, it has condemned many men and women to needless baldness by their neglect to treat certain accepted causes of hair loss.

There are six principal types of hair loss, or alopecia, as it is known in medical terms:

1. Alopecia from diseases of the scalp
2. Alopecia from other diseases or from an improper functioning of the body
3. Alopecia of the aged (senile baldness)
4. Alopecia areata (loss of hair in patches)
5. Alopecia of the young (premature baldness)
6. Alopecia at birth (congenital baldness)

Senile, premature and congenital alopecia cannot be helped by anything now known to modern science. Alopecia from improper functioning of the body requires the advice and treatment of your family physician.

BUT MANY MEDICAL AUTHORITIES NOW BELIEVE A SPECIFIC SCALP DISEASE IS THE MOST COMMON CAUSE OF HAIR LOSS.

This disease is called Seborrhea and can be broadly classified into two clinical forms with the following symptoms:

1. DRY SEBORRHEA. The hair is dry, lifeless, and without gloss. A dry flaky dandruff is usually present with accompanying itchiness. Hair loss is considerable and increases with the progress of this disease.

2. OILY SEBORRHEA. The hair and scalp are oily and greasy. The hair is slightly sticky to the touch and has a tendency to mat together. Dandruff takes the form of head scales. Scalp is usually itchy. Hair loss is severe with baldness as the end result.

Many doctors agree that to NEGLECT these symptoms of DRY and OILY SEBORRHEA is to INVITE BALDNESS.

DESTRUCTION OF HAIR FOLLICLES
Caused By Seborrhea

A — Dead hairs, B — Hair-destroying bacteria, C — Hypertrophied sebaceous glands, D — Atrophic follicles

Seborrhea is believed to be caused by three germ organisms: staphylococcus albus, pityrosporum ovale, and acnes bacillus.

These germs attack the sebaceous glands causing an abnormal working of this fat gland. The hair follicle is surrounded by the enlarged diseased sebaceous gland. Then begins a vicious circle. The hair produced becomes smaller and smaller until the hair follicle dies. Baldness is the inevitable result. (See illustration.)

But seborrhea can be controlled, particularly in its early stages. The three germ organisms believed to cause seborrhea, can and should be eliminated before they destroy your normal hair growth.

A post-war development, Comate Medicinal Formula kills these three germ organisms on contact. Proof of Comate's germ-killing properties has been demonstrated [illegible] by one of the leading testing laboratories. [illegible] (Complete [illegible] on request.)

When used as directed, Comate Medicinal Formula controls seborrhea—stimulates the scalp [illegible] and helps improves the appearance of your hair and scalp—helps STOP HAIR LOSS due to seborrhea. Your hair looks more attractive and alive.

You may safely follow the example of thousands who first were skeptical, then [illegible] fully decided to [illegible] Comate Medicinal Formula.

A Few of the Many Grateful Expressions By Users of Comate Medicinal Formula

"My hair was coming out for years and I tried everything. Nothing stopped it until I tried Comate. Now my hair has stopped coming out. It looks so much thicker. My friends have noticed my hair and they all say it looks so much better." —Mrs. R E J., Stevenson, Ala.

"Your hair formula got rid of my dandruff; my head does not itch any more. I think it is the best of all of the formulas I have used."—E.E., Hamilton, Ohio.

"Your formula is everything you claim it to be and the first 10 days trial freed me of a very bad case of dry seborrhea." —J E.M., Long Beach, Calif.

"I do want to say that just within five days I have obtained a great improvement in my hair. I do want to thank you and the Comate Laboratories for producing such a wonderful and amazing formula."—M.M., Johnstown, Pa.

"I have found almost instant relief. My itching has stopped with one application."—J.N., Stockton, Calif.

"My hair looks thicker, not falling out like it used to. Will not be without Comate in the house."—R.W., Lonsdale, R. I.

"I haven't had any trouble with dandruff since I started using Comate."—L.W.W., Galveston, Tex.

"This formula is everything if not more than you say it is. I am very happy with what it's doing for my hair." T J., Las Cruces, New Mexico

"I find it stops the itch and retards the hair fall. I am thankful for the help it has given me in regard to the terrible itchiness."—R.B.L., Philadelphia, Pa.

"The bottle of Comate I got from you has done my hair so much good. My hair has been coming out and breaking off for about 21 years. It has improved so much." Mrs J.E., Lisbon, Ga.

Today these benefits are available to you just as they were to these sincere men and women when they first read about Comate. If your hair is thinning, over-dry or over-oily—if you are troubled with dandruff with increasing hair loss—you may well be guided by the laboratory tests and the experience of thousands of grateful men and women.

INDIAN JUNCTION

Even under the blazing sun the husky laborers worked without complaint. They liked their foreman, Jim Lowell, who was in charge of the construction of the railroad. His bridge building gangs worked far ahead mastering the streams and river. Only one thing bothered him.

"There ought to be a better way to do the grading. Using the pick and shovel means we must have a lot of men. And it's hard to get men out here. They have been told all kinds of stories about Indian raids. Maybe someday some genius will invent a way to speed up the grading. We are off schedule now. For every day we go over the contract limit we must pay $2,000. For every day we finish our section before the contract limit we get that money."

"Why not tell it to Major Burns," smiled Ben Shaw. "He has lots of time on his hand. Wish I had his job. He and a dozen soldiers to protect us. Tell me just what could they do if Chief Pash-To decided to raid?"

There wasn't the slightest doubt that Major Frank Burns and his small group of soldiers were the envy of every worker on the railroad. They had a box car converted into living quarters. Around the clock there was a four hour watch with two soldiers doing guard duty. This was the kind of job at the given moment the workers wanted.

"If Chief Pash-To decided to annoy us in any manner, I am certain the major could well take care of the situation," replied Lowell. "The redskins respect him because he wants peace. Yet he is not afraid to fight should the occasion arise."

"But a handful against a thousand," protested Shaw. "What could he do? True, we have rifles and revolvers but they could out shoot us and kill us all."

"So that's what's worrying you," replied Jim. "Come with me to the major. I think he will be willing to show you Ma-to-Li-Ga." The foreman could see a look of surprise on the man's face as he made that announcement.

The two walked over to the box car that served as headquarters for the group of soldiers. A sentry stopped them and then conducted them to Major Frank Burns. The Indian fighter was in the prime of his life at that time. He looked like a man of steel who had the unusual ability to relax even among tension. Quickly Jim Lowell explained the situation.

"Meet Ma-to-Li-Ga," said the army officer to the puzzled Ben Shaw. "Sergeant Peterson! Remove the canvas from our protector."

The sergeant obeyed orders and Ben Shaw found himself facing a bright shiny gun with ten barrels.

"What kind of contraption is this?" he asked.

"Officially it is a Gatling Gun," explained the major. "Unofficially we call her Ma-to-Li-Ga. It is an Indian name which translated would amount to something in English that would best be expressed by Spitter-of-Death. I have had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Richard Jordan Gatling who invented this unusual gun. This one is the 1866 model and uses the .50 caliber center-fire brass cartridge. She can fire between 300 to 500 shots a minute. You will notice the ten drums near the gun. Each drum holds 400 cartridges. I myself was at Fort Madison when a test was held of a similar gun. Under test conditions at Fort Madison 100,000 cartridges were fired from a Gatling Gun. The working of the gun throughout the severe trial was eminently satisfactory."

Within half an hour the word spread among the railroad workers about the gun. Some believed it existed. Others doubted. And while they were arguing its merits an important event was taking place among the Indians of Chief Pash-To's tribe. Brave One spoke his mind.

"For years the buffalo has been our way of life. He has given us food, clothing, and shelter. Without him we are doomed. With our eyes we have seen the snorting Iron Horse move on shining rails. This Iron Horse will scare away our buffalo. Already we have trouble with the hunters. They want but the tongue and the skin of the animals. We are strong. Let us strike before it is too late. Today we are a proud people. Tomorrow we may be weak."

The Indian chief's face was emotionless as he heard the appeal for war. Only one out of every five of his braves had a rifle. And for each of those rifles there was but thirty bullets. Reason had left his men. He would have to speak carefully. He turned his eyes at the many Indians in back of Brave One. Then he spoke.

"I have seen Ma-to-Le-Ga. This one gun could kill and wound all of us. Before we hunted the buffalo, tradition says our people were raisers of corn. When there are no more buffalo then again we shall raise corn. It is good to live in peace. Perhaps we may work for the white man and earn money."

"We do not believe such a gun exists," challenged Brave One. "You can not show it to us. Tomorrow we fight and tonight we dance for victory."

The Indian chief dug his finger nails into his hand, as in anger he clenched his fists. At any cost he must not lose his temper. This was a challenge to his authority. He would be deposed and Brave One take his place.

"I shall ask my friend Major Burns to show you this gun before you fight. My tongue is not a teller of lies. We will take the entire tribe there. The sqaws and the children will go with us."

All work had ceased along the railroad. The men were assembled before Major Burns. He knew the gravity of the situation.

"Within three hours the Indians will be here. If anything goes wrong there will be a terrific fight. This I wish to avoid at all costs. Chief Pash-To has asked me to demonstrate the Gatling Gun. His braves want to fight. He has seen this gun in action. There may be hot-heads among them. And there may be hot-heads among you. At present you are all subject to army law, as in this emergency I declare now the existence of martial law."

There was a small cloud of dust on the horizon. It grew larger and larger as the Indians rode nearer and nearer to the railroad where the box car was stationed. Within five hundred yards they stopped. Chief Pash-To and Brave One dismounted and came up to Major Burns.

"The one who calls himself Brave One but whom I call Doubting One wishes to see the gun in action."

The other side of the field facing the box car was littered with packing cases that had been emptied of their contents. A drum had been inserted into the Gatling Gun. Major Burns gave the signal and a hail of lead started to wreck the boxes. The Indians watched this display and for once were unable to control their facial expressions. When the one drum had been emptied, Brave One bowed his head in shame before his chief.

"Whatever punishment you name, that is what I deserve. For I doubted the word of my chief."

"From this day on you shall be called Doubting One. You are a Brave One also When I go to the Happy Hunting Grounds you shall take my place. For you have learned much wisdom."

Jim Lowell, the foreman, had wandered among some of the Indian sqaws and braves. Something had attracted his attention. A horse was pulling two sticks. It was in the form of a V. At the closing part of the V was a heavy bundle. The contraption was meant to carry a load. But it was also pushing dirt. And at that moment Jim got an idea.

"Get me a strip of iron and a slab," he shouted to one of his men. "I can make a scraper. We can finish this section of the railroad way ahead of time."

Doubting One was in charge of the scraper section. The Indians were working and receiving gold dollars for their labor. Ben Shaw was a happy man.

"We ought to call this place Indian Junction. For here the white man met in peace and worked in peace. The section was finished 14 days ahead of schedule. Jim Lowell split the bonus money between his workers and the Indians. He had discovered what many of us have yet to learn. There is no substitute for honesty and fair play. A year later, Major Burns, who was now Colonel Burns, handed Chief Pash-To a white paper.

"This is an agreement. It will give you and your people a lot of money. Jim Lowell patented a grading scraper. Half of the money he gets goes to your people."

After appropriate ceremonies were held, Colonel Burns left the tribe. There was something he wanted to say. But he kept it a secret all his life. At the end of the first drum, the Gatling Gun had jammed!
